

Terms of use for downloads

1. The download area provides contents created by the Gretsch-Unitas Group. All material made available for download is subject to copyright protection and protected by German and international trademark, copyright and database right laws.

All data made available for download by the Gretsch-Unitas Group are subject to the right of use of Gretsch-Unitas GmbH or their licensors. The user receives no other rights to the contents than the uses mentioned above.

The image and data material must not be modified in any way; this also includes colour alterations. Disseminating non product-related or product-damaging contents when publishing or passing on the unchanged data files is not permitted.

2. Information bulletins, brochures, catalogues and other data files made available for download by the Gretsch-Unitas Group may be printed out, however, their content must not be modified. Individual pages, photos or texts must not be saved separately, reproduced or used otherwise. The data files may be passed on in an unchanged form. Selling the data files is not permitted.
3. Although the data files provided for download were scanned for viruses, the risk of damage due to existing malicious codes cannot be fully eliminated. Therefore, the user is asked to make another virus check when downloading.
